2 March Tuesday £34.00 NEW	MYDDLETON HOUSE GARDENS, LONDON. Renowned for its wonderful collections of Spring Bulbs. A botanical garden that is home to a host of rare and unusual and plants and lost London treasures. Myddelton House Gardens were once home to Edward Augustus Bowles, one of Britain's most famous self-taught gardeners, artists and expert botanists. For many years people came from all over the country to visit. He became an expert on many plants, particularly the Crocus, and was dubbed "The Crocus King". Nestled in the heart of Enfield, the eight acre grounds play host to a variety of trees, shrubs and flowers. Bowles dedicated his life to maintaining the gardens at Myddelton House often bringing back unusual plants from his travels. An example of this today is in the 'Lunatic Asylum' beds, where plants with contorted stems and foliage can be found. The gardens are a treasure trove of hidden oddities and the beautifully reconstructed Victorian Glasshouse is no exception. With four climatic zones, you will find exotic plants from around the world ranging from cacti which thrive on dry arid conditions to air plants which obtain all of their nutrients from water vapour in the air. The sunken glasshouse, known as the Peach House, is perfect for harvesting fruits that thrive on high humidity. There may be the possibility of lunch but this has to be pre-ordered so you may prefer to bring a picnic. I will send menus to those who book.   Depart Heathfield 8.30, Uckfield 8.50, Maresfield 9.00, Forest Row 9.25, War Memorial Bus Stop 9.35, Lingfield Road Bus Stop 9.40, Felbridge 9.45. 31 March Wednesday £66.00 NEW	HIDDEN LONDON SMITHFIELD TOUR WITH JACK CHESHER & THE NEW MUSEUM OF LONDON. Smithfield is one of the most fascinating areas of London, one bursting with history, dramatic stories and breathtaking architecture. Not only is Smithfield home to some of the city's most ancient institutions including its oldest parish church and oldest hospital but has historically been a place of conflict, violence and rebellion. Smithfield is where many rebels, over the centuries, have whilst fighting for their causes come up against the full force and resistance of those in power and often met a sticky end. We will be walking in the footsteps of queens, revolutionaries, monks, murderers and merry-makers and along the way will find a notorious execution site, a Black Death burial ground, surviving World War One shrapnel damage and a Tudor architectural gem. It will include (if open) a visit inside St Bartholomew the Great church. We did a Lambeth tour with Jack a couple of years ago and everyone raved about his presentation and knowledge. The tour starts and ends at THE NEW MUSEUM OF LONDON. A new home in Smithfield's historic General Market. Discover the people, places and moments that have shaped the city. Why Smithfield? With a rich and varied history, the Smithfield area is a fitting place to create a 21st-century museum. It's been a Roman cemetery, a place of execution, home of the boisterous Bartholomew Fair, and a grimy muse for Charles Dickens. The first written record of the 'smooth field' dates back to the 1170s, by which time it was already a bustling livestock market – a use that continued for centuries. One group will do the walking tour with Jack in the morning whilst the other group visit the Museum then we swap after time for lunch. There are various options for lunch in the Museum.
